Designed with your patients in mind

Your patients range from small to large and have unique anatomical structures that require hardware and software to optimize their image quality.

1.5T High-Field magnet with 16 channels

Gives you the power to see more and scan faster.

V-shaped patient bed

Designed for pets not humans, the sliding roller system allows for fast patient access in and out of the bore so minimizing time under general anesthesia.

Veterinary-specific coils

Opening on top for optimum patient positioning and with a phased array system that enables the use of two coils simultaneously, you can better image hard-to-reach anatomy.

Closed system with a unique hatch

Self-shielded so you can remain close to your patient, if needed.

Veterinary software and protocols

Included. You don't have to rely on outsourcing to develop protocols or use sequences designed for humans.

Technology that works in your favor.

Don't wait to take advantage of the latest technology with a new system.

On-board radiofrequency (RF) shield

No need to invest in expensive room updates.

Zero boil-off cold head

Constantly recycles helium and eliminates helium top-offs.

Air-cooled helium compressor

Maintains constant helium levels at all times.

Water by-pass

Ensures uninterrupted system use in case of chiller fault.
